THE CHINESE ACT

Full Text of the Chinese Immigration Restriction Act of 1885.

A System to Provide for the Registration and Control of Chinese Immigrants.

On the 18th of June THE TIMES published a synopsis of the Chinese Immigration Act then before parliament. That measure it now appears was withdrawn and another one substituted in its stead. As the act is one that largely affects this province and its industrial interests we to-day give the full text of the Act:

The first and second sections of the act and subsections are taken up with recitals, defining the expressions of "Master" of a vessel; "tonnage;" "Chinese immigrant," and "controller." Section three defines appointments which shall be published in the Canada Gazette. The following sections are given in their entirety:

4. Subject to the provisions of section thirteen of this Act every person of Chinese origin shall pay into the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada, on entering Canada, at the port or other place of entry, the sum of fifty dollars, except the following persons who shall be exempt from such payment, that is to say, first: the members of the Diplomatic Corps, or other Government representatives and their suite and their servants, consuls and consular agents; and second: tourists, merchants, men of science and students, who are bearers of certificates of identity, specifying their occupation and their object in coming into Canada, or other similar documents issued by the Chinese Government or other Government whose subjects they are; and every such certificate or other document shall be in the English or French language, and shall be examined and endorsed (vise) by a British Consul or Charge d'Affaires or other accredited representative of Her Majesty, at the place where the same is granted, or at the port or place of departure, but nothing in this Act shall be construed as embracing within the meaning of the word "merchant," any huckster, pedlar, or person engaged in taking, drying or otherwise preserving shell or other fish for home consumption or exportation.

5. No vessel carrying Chinese immigrants to any port in Canada shall carry more than one such immigrant for every fifty tons of its tonnage; and the owner of any such vessel, who carries any number in excess of the number allowed by this section, shall be liable to a penalty of fifty dollars for each person so carried in excess.

6. Every master of any vessel bringing Chinese immigrants to any port in Canada, shall be personally liable to Her Majesty for the payment of the fee imposed by section four of this act in respect of any immigrant carried by such vessel, and shall deliver, together with the total amount of such fee, to the controller, immediately on his arrival in port and before any of his passengers or crew shall have disembarked, a complete and accurate list of his crew and passengers, showing their names in full, the country and place of their birth, and the occupation and last place of domicile of each passenger.

7. Every master of any vessel who allows to be landed off or from any vessel any Chinese immigrant before the duty payable under the provisions of this act has been duly paid, or who wilfully makes any false statement respecting the number of persons on board his vessel shall in addition to the amount of the fee mentioned in the next preceding section, be liable to a penalty of not less than five hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars for every such offence, and in default of payment to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, and such vessel shall be forfeited to Her Majesty, and shall be seized by any officer charged with the duty of carrying this act into effect and dealt with accordingly.

8. No master of any vessel carrying Chinese immigrants shall land any passenger or permit any passenger to land from such vessel, until a permit to do so, stating that the provisions of this Act has been complied with, has been granted to the master of such vessel by the controller, under a penalty of one hundred dollars.

9. No controller at any port shall grant a permit allowing Chinese immigrants to land, until the quarantine officer has granted a bill of health and has certified, after due examination, that no leprosy or infectious or contagious disease exists among them, on board such vessel; and no permit to land shall be granted to any Chinese immigrant who is suffering from leprosy or from any infectious or contagious disease, or to any Chinese woman who is known to be a prostitute.

10. The controller shall deliver to each Chinese immigrant who has been permitted to land, and in respect of whom the duty has been paid as hereinbefore provided, a certificate containing a description of such individual, the date of his arrival, the name of the port of his landing and an acknowledgement that the duty has been duly paid; and such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the person presenting the same to enter the Dominion of Canada; but the same may be contested by the government of Canada, or by any officer charged with the duty of carrying this act into effect, if there is reason to doubt the validity or authenticity of such certificate, or of any statement therein contained; and such contestation shall be heard and determined in a summary manner by and before any judge of a Superior Court of any province of Canada where such certificate is produced.

11. The controller shall keep a register of all persons to whom certificates of entry have been granted.

12. Every Chinese immigrant subject to pay the duty imposed by section four of this act, who enters Canada otherwise than by disembarking from any vessel shall forthwith make declaration of his entry to the controller, or in the absence of such officer, to the Customs officer of the nearest or most convenient place, and shall forthwith pay to such controller or officer the duty of fifty dollars imposed by this act, and the controller or officer shall grant a certificate of such entry and payment, in conformity with the provisions of section ten of this act; and if the declaration is made to a Customs officer he shall report the fact to the controller at the principal seaport of the province into which such Chinese immigrant has come, and the controller shall record the same in the register of certificate of entry kept by him.

13. The entrance fee or duty payable under this act shall not apply to any Chinese person residing or being within Canada at the time of the coming into force of this act, but every such Chinese person who desires to remain in Canada, may obtain, within twelve months after the passing of this Act, and upon the payment of a fee of fifty cents, a certificate of such residence, from the controller or from the judge of a supreme court, a justice of the peace, a police magistrate, a stipendiary magistrate, a recorder, or from the mayor or secretary treasurer of the municipality in which he resides, or from any officer charged with the duty of carrying this Act into effect; and the person granting such certificate shall report the fact to the controller at the principal seaport of the Province in which such Chinese person resides.

14. Every Chinese person who wishes to leave Canada, with the intention of returning thereto, shall give notice of such intention to the controller at the port or place whence he proposes to sail or depart, and shall surrender to said officer his certificate of entry or of residence, and shall receive in lieu thereof on payment of a fee of one dollar a certificate of leave to depart and return; and the person to whom such certificate is granted shall be entitled, on presentation of the same on his return, to receive from the controller the amount of the entrance fee paid by him on such return and to have his original certificate of entry or residence returned to him.

In case of the loss of such return certificate, and on proof of such loss to the satisfaction of the controller, the person to whom such certificate was granted, and who has paid the entrance fee imposed by section four of this act a second time shall be entitled to have his second entrance fee returned to him together with his first certificate of entry or residence.

15. The controller shall, on the first day of January, in each year, send to the Provincial Secretary of the province wherein certificates of entry have been granted, a certified list of all Chinese immigrants to whom such certificates have been granted during the year next preceding.

16. Every Chinese person who wilfully evades or attempts to evade any of the provisions of this act as respects the payment of duty, by personating any other individual, or who wilfully makes use of any forged or fraudulent certificate to evade the provisions of this act, and every person who wilfully aids or abets any such Chinese person in any evasion or attempt at evasion of any of the provisions of this act, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, or to a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars, or to both.

17. Every person who takes part in the organization of any sort of court or tribunal, composed of Chinese persons, for the hearing and determination of any offence committed by a Chinese person, or in carrying on any such organization, or who takes part in any of its proceedings, or who gives evidence before any such Court or tribunal, or assists in carrying into effect any decision or decree, or order of any such Court or tribunal, is guilty of a misdemeanor and liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding twelve months, or to a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars, or to both; but nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent Chinese immigrants from submitting any differences or disputes to arbitration, provided such submission be not contrary to the laws in force in the province in which such submission is made.

18. Every person who molests, persecutes or hinders any officer or person appointed to carry the provisions of this act into effect is guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, or to a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars, or to both.

19. Every person who contravenes any provision of this act, for which no special punishment is herein provided, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to a penalty not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, or to both, in the discretion of the Court in which the conviction is had.

20. All dues, pecuniary penalties and other sources of revenue under this act shall be paid into and form part of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada; but one-fourth part of all entry dues paid by Chinese immigrants shall, at the end of every fiscal year, be paid out of such fund to the province wherein the same were collected.

21. The Governor in Council may engage and pay an interpreter, skilled in the English and Chinese languages, at a salary of not more than three thousand dollars per annum, to reside in the Province of British Columbia, and may assign to him such duties as he deems meet.

22. All suits or actions for the recovery of dues under this Act and all prosecutions for offences under this Act which are not herein declared to be misdemeanors, shall be tried before one or more justices of the peace, or before the recorder, police magistrate, or stipendiary magistrate having jurisdiction where such dues are exigible or where the offence was committed.

23. This Act, as respects any vessel sailing for a port on the continent of North America, shall come into force one month after the passing thereof, and as respects other vessels and other matters, the same shall come into force on the first day of January, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, except that certificates under section thirteen may be granted, in accordance with the terms of the said section, and that controllers may be appointed at any time after the passing hereof.

24. This act may be cited as "The Chinese Immigration Act, 1885."

Hoaxing the Seattleites.

The P. I. says that a passenger who arrived Friday morning on the steamer Eliza Anderson from Victoria, landed at Port Townsend early and reported about town that a number of Chinese were stowed away on that vessel. In a short time nearly the whole Custom House force were mustered on board, and a thorough search being made, to their disgust not one was found. It is now suspected that this man has a partner in Victoria who sends boats across for the accommodation of Chinese travel, and that there might have been a number of these boats crossing the straits when the attention of the officers of customs was called to the Anderson, thus giving the boats an opportunity of landing anywhere in the vicinity of the town.

Not a particle of calomel or any other deleterious substance enters into the composition of Ayer's Cathartic Pills. On the contrary, they prove of special service to those who have used calomel and other mineral poisons as medicines, and feel their injurious effects. In such cases Ayer's Pills are invaluable.

THE DEAD GENERAL.

Programme of Funeral Arrangements —Ready to Go—A Precious Life.

THE FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

The latest despatches from Mount McGregor state that the remains of the General will lie quietly at the cottage, in the room where he died, until one week from Tuesday afternoon next, when the funeral cortege will be placed on a special train, and conveyed directly and without demonstration to Albany, reaching there in the evening. The remains will be borne to the capitol, where they will lie in state until Wednesday noon, and thence the dead General will be conveyed by the funeral train to New York, arriving there Wednesday evening. The body will then be conveyed to city hall, where it will remain in state until Saturday, when it will be borne to its last resting place in Central Park. All this programme is now prepared, upon the assumption that the evident hitch in New York with reference to compliance with General Grant's condition touching interment of his wife shall be complied with.

READY TO GO.

Dr. Douglas in an interview with a New York reporter said: "I turned to the General and tried to cheer him, by telling him of the apparently improved condition of his throat and neck to which in reply the General again wrote: "After all that, however, the disease is still there and must be fatal in the end. My life is precious, of course, to my family, and would be to me if I could recover entirely. There never was one more willing to go than I. I know most people have first one and then another little thing to fix up, and never get quite through. This was partially my case. I first wanted so many days to work on my book, so the authorship would be strictly mine. It was graciously granted to me, after being apparently much lower than since, and with a capacity to do more work than I ever did in the same time. My work had been done so hastily that much of it was left out, and I did it all over from the crossing of the James river in 1864, to Appomattox, in 1865. Since that I have added as much as fifty pages to the book, I should think. There is nothing more to do, and therefore I am not likely to be more ready to go than at this moment."

THE GENERAL'S LAST HOURS.

The New York Tribune has the following of Grant's last hours: As Nellie was standing by the bedside, holding her father's hand and watching the quiet, impassive face on the pillow, she leaned forward, and with her mouth close to her father's ear said: "Papa, if you know your Nellie will you squeeze her hand?" The emaciated fingers contracted slightly, and this was the last evidence of existing consciousness.

The exact time of the general's death is not known, as there was considerable variation in the watches. Dr. Douglas' watch was exactly at 8, while other watches were a few minutes faster or slower. Mrs. Grant was dazed for a moment, and would not believe her husband was no more. She clasped his cold hand to her bosom, and Nellie, burying her face in her hands, said: "Poor Mamma!" Mrs. Grant got up from her chair, and leaning over the calm, silent face, kissed the cold lips again and again, until Dr. Newman, who had entered the room just as the general died, took her gently by the arm and led her to a sofa. Newman's face was flushed with emotion, and he said that his prayer that the general might die peacefully had been answered. "For such a quiet death I never saw before."

The Tribune publishes a statement of the present status of the trust fund raised by citizens of New York for General Grant several years ago. After telling how, at the suggestion of the late Governor Morgan, $188,000 of the fund was invested in the Wabash railroad first mortgage 7 per cent bonds, which were then considered as good as governments, Governor Morgan guaranteeing them, and undertaking to make both principal and interest good out of his own private fortune in case the interest should be defaulted for six months. The Tribune says: "What six months ago seemed an almost impossible contingency, will probably become a fact within a few days. On August 11, interest on the bonds in question will be six months in arrears, and it is probable that Governor Morgan's executors will, in accordance with his guaranty, pay over to the trustees of the fund the principal and interest.

Ten Years' Wrecks.

The following is a list of places on the coast of Washington Territory where vessels have stranded during the ten years ending June 30th, 1884, with number of vessels at each place: Burrows' Island, Rosario Strait, 1; Cape Flattery, 2; Cape Hancock, 1; Columbia river, north of, 1; Crescent Bay, 2; Destruction Island, 1; Edis Hook, 1; Freshwater Bay, 2; Marrowstone Point, 2; Maury Island, 1; Neah Bay, 2; New Dungeness, 2; Nisqually river, 1; Pearl Island, 1; Pillar Point, 1; Point Greenville, 1; Point Wilson, 2; Port Susan, 1; Port Townsend, 1; San Juan Island, 1; Shoalwater Bay, 4; Tacoma, 1; Utsalady, 1. In all thirty-three vessels were stranded during the ten years on more than two thousand miles of sea coast. This is an excellent record, more especially when the enormous commerce in ships is considered. Oregon, with less than one-quarter the coast line and less than half the shipping, had fifty-five wrecks during the same time. The Columbia river is truly the graveyard of ships. No less than twenty-nine stranded vessels are charged against the bar and points adjacent during the decade referred to, and several of the vessels charged against this Territory were vessels bound for the Columbia river, but which were unable to get in. At no other place on the Pacific Coast of the United States, from San Diego to Behring Sea, were there to exceed six such vessels; but on the Columbia river bar alone there were fourteen, and on Clatsop Spit, close by, seven.

The N. P. R. Tea Trains.

Working time schedules for the tea train service on the Northern Pacific railway have been issued. It is intended to cover the distance between Tacoma and St. Paul in 160 hours. For the demands of the new move thus inaugurated special rolling stock for this service has been prepared at the Brainerd shops. This hereafter is to be known as the beef and fruit line, and a full line of refrigerator cars are also ready. The train from the Montana stock region west will be known as the beef express, and as the Pacific fruit train westward from that region. All Northwestern dealers are alive to the importance of the movement, which is bound to revolutionize the previous order of things.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS

The Struggle to be a Severe One, Nothing Like it Since 1836.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, July 27.—Popular interest in politics has been again transferred from parliament to the hustings. When the Tories assumed power there was a general, though vague, idea that they would at once inaugurate a radical foreign policy, and public interest consequently was centered on Parliament; but the Conservatives in office have even been less belligerent than the Liberals were, and the people now await new declarations of principle from both parties. Many members of parliament have already left London and gone to their respective boroughs to arrange for the coming struggle.

All indications show that the next battle at the polls will be, by all odds, the severest and most closely contested which has been waged in England since the famous campaign of 1836. At present it would be hazardous to give odds on either side.

TORY POLITICAL AGENTS

in the provinces continue to send in promising reports of their party's prospects. Nearly every report received from these gentry by the Central Association, contains confident assurances of victory in the farming districts, and minor boroughs, over the Radicals—as the Liberals are called, since the Whigs have been so largely superseded in the management of the affairs of the Gladstone party.

The Conservatives have decided in Great Britain where there is a shadow of a chance for success. Tory candidates will therefore stand for every constituency in England and Scotland, except in about forty, where the Liberals have such an assured ascendency that it would be a waste of energy to try to beat them. An enormous fund for defraying election expenses has already been accumulated by the Conservatives.

A COMMERCIAL TREATY.

Col. Fred. Stanley, Secretary of State for the colonies, has tacitly promised to revive the negotiations which were abandoned by Lord Derby, his brother and predecessor in office for a commercial treaty between the United States and the British colonies in the West Indies.

THE MUNSTER BANK.

The refusal of the Bank of Ireland to concede assistance to the Munster Bank has aroused the fierce indignation of all Irish Nationalists. The Nationalist newspapers threaten to organize a crusade against the Bank of Ireland, which is a foreign corporation, whose notes the Irish people should refuse. The United Ireland, Parnell's organ, declares that the Bank of Ireland is a source of danger to that country. It is endowed, says that paper, with extraordinary powers, which are used solely for its own aggrandizement and to the detriment of Irish trade and credit. It is not an Irish bank. It is merely a branch of the Freemasons and Orange Lodge. Of its eighty officers and agents but eight are Catholics.

THE BERLIN STRIKE.

From Berlin it is stated that the committee of Masons which has been directing the bricklayers strike, now admits that the strike is practically over. The committee claims that the masons have been successful and have secured more concessions than were expected. It justifies the strike, but complains bitterly of the interference of the authorities in favor of the employers. Many instances are given of this interference. It is even declared that the Berlin postoffice department attempted to injure the strike by interrupting sums of money sent to the strikers by sympathizers from different parts of the empire. Despite the virtual ending of the contest, building in Berlin remains practically suspended. The fight was so very bitter, and thorough on the part of the masons that it is doubtful if the building trade can be readjusted this year. Six thousand bricklayers before the ending of the hostilities had gone away from Berlin. Nearly all of them are now engaged at harvest labor in different parts of Germany. One member of the strikers committee went to persuade a non-union mason named Porst to desist from working under rates during the strike. Porst's employer encouraged him to assault the committee man for his interference. This Porst did so effectively that the committeeman was taken to an hospital where he died. Of course the officers arrested Porst but official sympathy has been extended him in many ways. The friends of the dead committeeman were arranging to give him a grand burial, but the police authorities issued an order prohibiting a procession of any kind to his grave.

THE TELEGRAPH ON GRANT.

The Daily Telegraph, editorially, in referring to General Grant's anxiety to finish his book ere death overtook him, says that there is much in the General's nature that reminds one of Sir Walter Scott's noble and heroic conduct in grappling with his financial embarrassment and a determination to pay his indebtedness.

A UNIVERSAL BURNS CLUB.

A movement has been started to organize Burns clubs throughout the world, with the purpose of holding a celebration in honor of the bard at Kilmarnock next year.

THE AFGHAN FRONTIER.

The Nord says Russia consents to a frontier, the Afghan side of which is topographically closed and easily defendable, but insists upon a well defined Russian side, to prevent Afghan incursions. The best method would be to define a broad line in London and settle details on the spot in order to prevent a misunderstanding where the same name is given to different localities.

ANTI-VACCINATION CONGRESS.

An anti-vaccination congress will meet at Charleroi, France, to-day. Herbert Spencer, Haeckel and Backner send approving letters. A large attendance is promised of Swiss, French and German medical men.

FIVE HUNDRED MILLION FRANCS.

The Panama canal directors have asked the government to sanction a new issue of five hundred million francs' worth of bonds. Premier Brisson opposes the demand on the ground that there is a deficit in the budget, and the country cannot take other responsibilities.

MARK OF RESPECT FOR GEN. GRANT.

As a mark of respect for the late Gen. Grant, military bands throughout England refrained from playing their usual Sunday selections yesterday, but played dead marches instead.

Address, THE TIMES P. & P. CO., Victoria, B. C.

JNO. McLAGAN, Manager.

CYRUS W. FIELD will give a grand banquet in London on August 5 to celebrate the anniversary of the completion of the first Atlantic cable.

APROPOS of "Unspoken Sermons" by GEO. MACDONALD, an English paper cruelly recalls the answer of CHARLES LAMB when COLERIDGE asked him if he had ever heard him preach. He had never, he replied, heard COLERIDGE do anything else.

"A PEDANTIC PLEBEIAN" is what SENATOR McINNES called SENATOR PLUMB in the Senate a few days ago while the C. P. R. resolutions were under discussion. The upper chamber has many sins to answer for, but we can forgive it much for coining that apt expression.

THE TIMES asserted, and still asserts, that the higher skilled labor portion of the statutes was finished outside of the Province. In fact, the whole matter of giving out the contract to the alien, who is stepson of one of the Ministers, and at the same time not allowing British subjects to tender for the work, is so unjustifiable an act that even the paid government organ, the Colonist, does not uphold the transaction.

THE Toronto papers state that the result of the recent matriculation and women's local examinations was adopted at the senate meeting. Out of 202 candidates who tried matriculation in arts 161 passed; all who went up in medicine passed. One of the number was a colored lady. Of the 22 ladies who tried not one failed. Forty-six candidates succeeded in passing the women's local examinations.

LIEUTENANT GORDON telegraphs to the Minister of Marine from St. John's, Newfoundland, that the Alert, with the Hudson's Bay expedition, has returned to that port for repairs. He reports that they were 21 days fast in the ice in Hudson's straits. The vessel's stern plate and iron sheeting were ripped off, and the false stern was damaged. The steamer has been docked at St. John's to get her iron work repaired. The damage to the ship is not serious, but it rendered her helpless in the ice.

ON every hand THE TIMES is receiving praise for the enterprise displayed by it last Thursday in publishing so full and accurate an account of the last moments and death of the greatest warrior the U. S. has yet produced—General Grant. We endorse the following from the Oregonian of Friday last: "Incidents like that of yesterday show that a newspaper, to be of service to the public, must have resources for doing business, and that its resources must at times be tried to the utmost." The Oregonian on that occasion displayed wonderful journalistic enterprise.

SENATOR CHAPAIS, a prominent Quebec Conservative Senator, died at Ottawa on the 17th inst. The deceased Senator was called to the senate in 1868. He was a member of the Executive Council, and Commissioner of Public Works for Canada from March 1864 till Confederation. He was sworn into the Privy Council July 1, 1867, and was Minister of Agriculture from that date until November 16, 1870, when appointed Receiver-General, resigning January, 1873. He sat in the Quebec Union Conference, 1864. He sat for Kamouraska in the Canadian Assembly from 1851 till he was created a Senator.

IT is now rumored that the HON. ALEX. MACKENZIE, ex-Premier, has resolved to retire from political life. The hon. gentleman's health is in a very precarious condition; his voice has completely failed him. In short he is an entirely different person to what he was four or five years ago. He feels that his usefulness as a prominent member of the Liberal party is gone by, and that others can be found to supply his place and assist MR. BLAKE in the discharge of his duties as leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition. A suitable office for MR. MACKENZIE is to be provided by the Ontario government. MR. G. W. BADGEROW, M. P. P. for East York, will take the field in the Liberal interest. ALFRED BOULTBEE is said to be his opponent.

POLITICAL AND SOCIAL.

The struggle for power, place and pelf seems to be the besetting sin, or motive power, of most political parties, except in countries where more liberal and revolutionary changes are urgently needed and demanded. Under those circumstances patriots are ever ready to make all kinds of sacrifices for the good of the many, without thought or care for themselves. In this province, however, the conditions are different, and so far as liberty is concerned we have as much as we have the intelligence to respect. The so-called Settlement Bill disposed of some of the grievances that existed between the provincial and Dominion governments, resolving the future into questions of taxation and administration. It is not unlikely that the mere mention of direct taxation, on a more equitable basis, will cause men of all grades to ponder over the probabilities of changes in that direction. Also, the possibility that in the near future many constitutional innovations will receive the earnest consideration of intelligent men and remedies will be demanded, which will meet the requirements of public necessities. With the cessation of public works, and importation of goods direct from Canada, our boasted wealthy status will cease, and the province, with enlarged responsibilities, be thrown on its own resources. Justice and equity have been superseded by unconstitutional measures, and class legislation has been the predominant characteristic of late legislative action, west as well as east. The public pap is made to subserve private interests and men who have no qualifications beyond that of superficial quacking and babbling, have had their nervous systems soothed by compensation tonics. Dandies neither raised in the country, nor possessed of any special merit beyond letters of recommendation (not to their credit) are especial objects of notice, whilst well tried and efficient men, and colonial youngsters, are passed over with contumely. The doings of scamps bearing false pedigrees and their numerous dealings with Victoria gentry have been covered up with hypocritical cant, whilst the feelings of poor offenders have been mercilessly outraged by the most virulent exposure. Apologies are made in favor of the rich who transgress moral and social laws, whilst the victims of licentiousness and fraud obtain scarcely sympathy or help. We have, in fact, a wide field of animadversion in this glorious province of ours, and a still wider one for improvement socially and politically.

CABINET CHANGES.

For some time back important changes in the personnel of the Cabinet have been foreshadowed. It was supposed at one time that SIR LEONARD TILLEY'S health was in such a precarious condition that absolute rest was necessary for the preservation of his life. It is now understood that the medical operation recently performed on him has had the effect of removing a trouble with which he had been afflicted for years, and that the Finance Minister is returning to Canada in an improved state of health. The Secretary of State has left for Paris to undergo a similar treatment. His friends are alarmed at his condition. His following in the Commons of Quebec representatives is a strong one. Between HON. MR. CHAPLEAU and SIR HECTOR LANGEVIN the best of political brotherly love does not exist. This feeling extends into the ranks of their respective followers. Hence the uneasiness in regard to MR. CHAPLEAU'S health by his supporters, for should his continuance in public life be prohibited it is certain an alliance would be sought with a certain wing of the Liberals, or the nucleus to a third party formed. The names of other members are mentioned as likely to retire into private life or be "shelved." The Toronto Mail, in alluding to the work of the recent session, and the probabilities for the future, says: "It is most unlikely that the government which has been so very successful and has received such brilliant support, will be the same government, in all its members, which will meet Parliament the next session. The law of change is inevitable, and operates on governments as on corporations, cities and people. Some of SIR JOHN MACDONALD'S colleagues are likely to retire to the repose which their health requires; and they will, no doubt, be succeeded by men in whom the country will have confidence, because they will have been selected by the Minister in whom the people have unbounded confidence. SIR JOHN MACDONALD has in his following many young men, or men still of middle age, who have served faithfully in the ranks, who have acquired knowledge, steadiness, and influence; and it will no doubt be his pleasure to afford them an opportunity of training themselves more perfectly in office for the work which must be theirs to do, so that others may follow in their footsteps and earn in the ranks the promotion which should not be delayed when the men and the need coincide. The session has shown us the old chief of the Conservatives in his best mood and in his most brilliant manner. He will prorogue Parliament still strong in power. He will meet it probably stronger than ever."

THE property of the C. P. R. company at Winnipeg, for school purposes is assessed at $1,500,000. The company decline paying its quota on the ground that the property, according to their charter, and subsequent acts of parliament is exempted. The case has been appealed and the decision will be looked for with interest, as it is a test one, affecting the interests of every city wherever the C. P. R. has property.

A Pretty Woman's Secret.

Fear of discovery, when she resorts to false hair and dyes, is a source of constant anxiety to her. The very persons from whom she most desires to hide the waning of her charms are the ones most likely to make the discovery. But there is no reason why she should not regain and retain all the beauty of hair that was her pride in youth. Let her use AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and, not only will her hair cease to fall out, but a new growth will appear where the scalp has been denuded; and locks that are turning gray, or have actually grown white, will return to their pristine freshness and brilliance of color. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR cures

Hereditary Baldness.

GEORGE MAYER, Flatonia, Texas, was bald at 23 years of age, as his ancestors had been for several generations. One bottle of HAIR VIGOR started a growth of soft, downy hair all over his scalp, which soon became thick, long, and vigorous.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

is not a dye, but, by healthful stimulation of the roots and color glands, speedily restores to its original color hair that is Turning Gray.

MRS. CATHERINE DEAMER, Point of Rocks, Md., had her hair suddenly blanched by fright, during the late civil war. AYER'S HAIR VIGOR restored it to its natural color, and made it softer, glossier, and more abundant than it had been before.

Scalp Diseases

Which cause dryness, brittleness, and falling of the hair, dandruff, itching, and annoying sores, are all quickly cured by AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It cured HERBERT BOYD, Minneapolis, Minn., of intolerable Itching of the Scalp; J. N. CARTER, JR., Occoquan, Va., of Scald Head; MRS. D. V. S. LOVELACE, Lovelaceville, Ky., of Tetter Sores; Miss BESSIE H. BEDLOE, Burlington, Vt., of Scalp Disease and Dandruff. Torpidity of the roots of the hair, which, if neglected, may result in incurable baldness, is readily cured by AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. As

A Toilet Luxury

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR has no equal. It is colorless, cleanly, delightfully perfumed, and has the effect of making the hair soft, pliant, and glossy.

DYING LIKE SHEEP.

The soldiers in Suakim are in a deplorable state. They write home stating that they are serving no military purpose whatever, their sole efforts being concentrated in trying to escape death, not at the hands of the enemy, but from the effects of the climate. The hot desert wind is now blowing continuously. It is simply impossible for Europeans to live away from shelter during the middle of the day. Their uniforms are wholly unsuitable for the conditions under which they are trying to exist, and the officers and men go about naked. The heat averages 110 deg. in the shade. Water is abundant, but fresh food is scarce, and the diet of canned meat and vegetables, together with the intense heat, makes enteric diseases very prevalent. There are no proper accommodations for the sick in the field. The gunboats in the harbor are simply floating hospitals, and are already so crowded with patients that there is no chance for others to obtain admission. The percentage of mortality among the sick in the inland field hospital is frightful. One sergeant bitterly says: "We are dying off like sheep with the murrain. If they want Osman whipped in the autumn we won't be alive to do it. Better send the pots back to get the glory again. We are good enough to rot here."

IN consequence of the recent rise in duties by the government the licensed victuallers of Montreal are contemplating raising the price of liquor by the glass. Many individual saloon keepers have already increased the price of gin and rye from 5 to 7 cents per glass.

[New York Tribune.]

Some time before the war a Presbyterian clergyman from New Hampshire went south with his family for the benefit of his health. He purchased a little farm in Virginia, about three miles from Washington, D. C., access to which was had by the way of Georgetown and the aqueduct bridge. He gradually failed in health, however, and died, leaving a widow—Mrs. Gayes—and two girls and two boys. At the breaking out of the war in 1861, Mrs. Gayes and her elder daughter, who was about 15 years of age, took a decided stand in favor of the Union cause. It required not a little moral courage to do this; but there was no element of fear in the make-up of any member of the family. At first their home was within the Confederate lines, and communication with Washington was very difficult and hazardous. Mrs. Gayes was ridiculed, and sometimes threatened, but it availed nothing.

After the Confederates were driven back a few miles, in 1861, fortifications were constructed around Washington for the protection of the national capital. They consisted of a chain of forts arranged in nearly a circle. The line crossed the Potomac near Chain bridge, above Georgetown, extending thence down to Arlington heights and some distance below, recrossing the river about half way between Long bridge and Alexandria, and so on around until the circle was complete. Within this line, and about a mile and a half from Fort Smith, situated on a little eminence, was Mrs. Gayes' modest home, protected now from the enemy, but suffering more perhaps from her friends. Many regiments were encamped near by, and little by little her timber and fences and stock and crops disappeared, until there was scarcely anything left save the house and the land. Even the cook-stove was missing one morning. Very frequently at night she was aroused by the beating of "the long roll," the shouting of words of command, and the tramping of regiments as they swiftly formed in line of battle to meet the expected enemy. On such occasions all the members of the family would hastily dress, secure about their persons what valuables they had, and patiently wait. During all these trying years she and her daughter were devoted friends of the Union cause, and their willing hands were untiring in doing something for the soldiers.

It was a midsummer morning in 1864. Out in the fields and over in the city it was scorching hot. But in Mrs. Gayes' house, protected as it was from the rays of the sun by the abundant foliage of the great oaks which surround it, the heat was not oppressive. Mrs. Gayes was in the sitting-room reading a paper. The elder daughter was in Washington. Charley—the elder son—who was then near 12 years of age, was playing with the dog on the porch. It was a peaceful, quiet picture of Virginia country life. Suddenly there came a loud, whistling, screaming sound, followed by a terrific explosion directly over the house.

"Why!" ejaculated Mrs. Gayes, as she started from her seat, "what a heavy clap of—," thunder she was about to say, but the unmistakable humming, twanging sounds which followed close upon the explosion, with the falling of leaves and broken branches from the trees, told her it was a shell from some heavy gun.

"It it possible the rebels are making an attack?" she said.

The children now came running in from their play, and one of them cried out: "Oh, mamma! the lightning has struck the tree." Mrs. Gayes went out on the porch and looked and listened, but nothing unusual could be seen or heard.

"It was a shell," said she. "I expect a gun at once of the forts went off accidentally."

"Well," said Charley, when they load their guns I wish they'd point them toward Richmond. They ought to be ashamed of themselves."

"I don't think we shall be troubled and more," said the mother as she returned to the sitting-room, followed by the children. She had but just resumed her seat, when another shell buried itself in the earth a few yards from the house and burst, throwing up clouds of dust and dirt.

"What can it mean?" said Mrs. Gayes.

"I know what it means, mamma!" cried Charley. "That New York regiment which has been sent over to Fort Smith has put up a target in our field, and the fellows are firing at it. I wish I was a general. I'd put every one of them in the guard house."

The boy was right in his surmise, and in a few moments another missile thrown from one of the huge siege guns with which the fort was armed struck a quarter of a mile away, and came bounding or ricocheting toward the house, striking the ground at short intervals in its mad course, something as a stone when thrown violently upon the water skips along the surface. With a shriek like a demon it plunged through the garden, destroying everything in its path, filled the air with dust, gave two or three more skips and screeches, and finally burst over near the road. Mrs. Gayes turned pale.

"Come down into the cellar with me, all of you," she said, and they obeyed with alacrity. After she had quieted Eliza, the negro servant, who was alternately praying to "de good Lord" and to "Missus Gayes" to save her, she said:

"Charley, you must run up to Mr. Pierson's just as fast as you can and ask him to go around to the fort and have the firing stopped. And you remain at Mr. Pierson's until I send for you. Don't come back. You are not afraid to go, are you?"

"No, mamma, I'm not afraid," answered the brave little fellow, as he clasped his mother's hand a little tighter.

"I knew you would not be, and now as soon as the next shell comes I want you to go." When it came she kissed him and said: "Now, my brave boy, run!"

She would have gladly gone herself, but she thought it better to remain that she might be with the other two children in case the house should be struck and burned. It cost her a struggle to send her son forth on such a perilous errand, and her face was very pale as she kissed him. Away sped Charley through the garden, glancing with wonder at the great furrows the shells had plowed, climbed the fence and started to run with all his might toward Mr. Pearson's house, which was half a mile distant. He had scarcely left the garden fence, however, when another shell came tearing through the shrubbery he had just passed, and burst close to the house. The mother's heart stood still for an instant—and there was cause for it. One of the flying fragments struck poor Charley, and he fell to the ground with a cry of "Oh, mamma!" Down in the cellar the mother heard the cry of her wounded boy, and in a moment she was kneeling by his side. It was a sad sight for a mother to look upon. The cruel piece of iron with its ragged edges had stripped a great piece of flesh from the back of his ankle upward, completely severing the cord and laying bare the bone. He was lying upon his face, and the blood was already staining the green grass where he had fallen. Speaking words of encouragement, she removed his shoe and the fragment of stocking, and hastily bound up the wound with strips torn from her clothing. In this way she stanched the flow of blood and quieted his fears, though she could not alleviate his pain.

"Now, Charley, I must go up to Mr. Pierson's myself, for a shell may strike the house, and then Mary and Robby will be burned. I'll put you behind that tree, and you will not be in much danger."

"But you'll run, mamma, won't you?"

And the tears trickled down Charley's cheeks, though he tried very hard to keep them back. The tree was a large chestnut, and its generous trunk afforded a pretty ample protection against the shells, two of which had struck near by while Mrs. Gayes was binding up the wound. Arriving at Mr. Pierson's, she dispatched him in great haste to the fort, while she, with swift feet, returned to Charley. Becky and Berty Pierson, aged 15 and 18, with true girlish heroism, returned with her notwithstanding the bursting shells. On the way they passed several negroes sheltered behind stumps and stones, and Mrs. Gayes vainly begged them to follow her and assist in the removal of the wounded boy. They found Charley behind the tree, and he said: "Oh, mamma! I'm so glad you've come back." He could not walk at all, and he was weak from pain and loss of blood. So his mother and the two girls carried him in their arms as best they could down the hill, half blinded by the awful explosions, slowly moved the strange procession. They waded the little stream in the hollow, stopping a moment to bathe Charley's face and hands, and carried their burden up the hill to Mr. Pierson's house.

By this time Mr. Pierson had reached the fort and the firing ceased. The other children were sent for and in few moments the regimental surgeon and hospital steward came galloping down to express their sorrow at what had happened and to render assistance. The surgeon's proffered services were most gladly accepted. When he was ready to examine the wound, the mother said:

"Now, Charley, it will hurt you to have the wound dressed, but it must be done, and you must try and bear it. It will soon be over."

"I'll try," said Charley, "if you'll be sure, mamma, and not let my leg be cut off."

She pressed him to her heart, and assured him with loving words that there was no occasion for so serious an operation.

"Sing to me, mamma! Sing to me!"

"Why, Charley—I—I don't believe I can sing now," she faltered.

"You must, mamma, you must! Please sing to me just the same as you always do, and I'll keep awful still." And he reached up and put his arms pleadingly around her neck. There was a silence in the room as the little sufferer persisted in his strange request. Then the mother closed her eyes and tried to sing. Her voice was tremulous at first, but by a mighty effort she expelled from her mind every thought save the remembrance of her love for her wounded child; and she was soon able to sing to him almost as sweetly and softly as if in her own quiet home. The boy's arms gradually relaxed and he lay back again quietly upon the blood-stained bed, with his head resting half upon his pillow and half upon his mother's lap. His eyes were closed, and his pallid face had lost something of the roundness and fullness which marked it in the morning. The mother was bending over him with one of his hands in hers. On the other side of the bed sat Berty Pierson fanning Charley's face. At the foot stood the surgeon and the steward. Clustered around the room were half a dozen neighbors looking on with sympathetic, awe-stricken faces.

When the mother began to softly sing the song she knew he loved, there was a solemn hush in the room, and every eye was filled with tears. Even the rough old surgeon, as he cut away the bloody bandages, was seen to turn away his head and hastily draw his sleeve across his eyes a number of times; and the steward was hardly able to distinguish his instruments. Under the soothing effect of his mother's voice the boy allowed the wounds to be dressed and the cruel stitches to be taken. Later in the day he dropped asleep and awoke considerably refreshed. He was uncomplaining through it all, and the fortitude with which he bore his sufferings excited the admiration of every one.

In the cool of the evening Charley was taken home in an ambulance, sent for that purpose from the fort. The officers did everything in their power to atone for the suffering they had so carelessly but unintentionally caused. The surgeons and his assistants attended him tenderly and carefully until he was well. The surgeon offered to procure his mother a pension, but Mrs. Gayes declined, saying that she was too thankful that her boy was alive to think of asking aid from the government. Charley was soon able to walk with the aid of crutches, but could not dispense with their use for several months.

Mrs. Gayes, now an aged woman, loves to tell of those perilous times. One of her daughters, a lady of rare qualities, fills one of the highest positions allowed to her sex in the government departments in Washington. She has in her little cabinet at home the very piece of shell which did its cruel work that day. It is rusty, and when picked up was blood-stained. Charley is a florist and brings his flowers regularly to one of the Washington markets. He limps a little, and will always have cause to remember the summer morning when the New York regiment in Fort Smith bombarded his mother's house.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave.

Poverty and Suffering.

I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.

I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it. —A WORKINGMAN.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—The Moodyville Sawmill company recently lost a large quantity of hay by fire at their camp on Howe Sound.

—The report of the finance committee will be considered at a special meeting of the City Council to-night.

—Numerous fires, for clearing purposes, are burning along the South Saanich rode.

—Calgary, the centre of an extensive grazing country is becoming a prominent stock market in the Northwest.

—The South Saanich farmers are now engaged in gathering the golden grain, principally oats and barley. The crop will prove to be at least an average one.

—There will be from 70,000 to 80,000 pounds of wool offering on the Calgary market within a week or two, all grown on ranches north of High river.

—Our base ballists are contemplating a trip to Portland in about two weeks to play the club of that burg a return match. It will be the event of the season, in the diamond field.

—C. D. Rand has resumed business and has taken an office on Bastion street over Dr. Chipp's where he will carry on business as a real estate broker and insurance agent.

—Victoria people who are ambitious to shine in society will be delighted to learn that a composition has been invented which, when applied to the clothing, renders it luminous at night.

—The incumbent of St. James Church is Archdeacon Scriven, and not Rev. Mr. Beanlands, as stated in Saturdays TIMES. The latter gentleman is curate of Christ Church Cathedral.

—The shearing is now finished on the ranches near Calgary, and a very handsome wool crop is the result. Alderman Hallam, of Toronto, was expected there to purchase all the wool.

—Mr. A. G. Murdoch, pressman in the Advertiser office, in this city, while climbing a ladder to-day, unfortunately fell and had several of his ribs broken. He was taken to the hospital.

—A young lady who works in the Colonist office had her foot caught in the hoist to-day, and received a painful though not a serious bruise. She will be all right again in a day or two.

—Senator Cochrane will ship the wool recently clipped on the British America Ranche near Calgary to Montreal. The amount of wool clipped on this ranch amounts to some 50,000 pounds.

—In addition to the other attractions the management of the Theater Comique has engaged for this week Professor Young Dutchey and Mr. Al. Stewart to give exhibitions of the manly art. They will appear this evening.

They traveled by rail direct from the end of the iron in British Columbia on the Canadian Pacific. —The Port Townsend Argus declares that Collector Beecher is anxious to prevent the illegal entrance of Chinese into Washington Territory from British Columbia, but that it is impossible to do this without the aid of a revenue cutter. —Mr. C. Gabriel, of the Bazaar, left by the Olympian this morning en route to Japan to purchase novelties for the holiday trade. A branch of this house will be opened in Montreal, under the management of Mr. M. B. Atchison, in December next, and goods for the trade there will be selected by Mr. G. when in Japan. He will be absent about three months, during which time Mrs. Gabriel will have charge of the business.

Gone to Berlin.

Prof. Jacobsen and brother left to-day by the Olympian, with nine Indians from the west coast, of the Bella Bella tribe, for the exhibition at Berlin, Germany. The Professor also carried with him several cases of Indian curios, which he has been collecting for some time past. The amount expended by the Professor in this work during the last four years, is said to be not less than $16,000.

Annie Wright Seminary.

The Christmas term of this school opens on the 3d of September next. Last year the pupils in attendance numbered 94, a very large number indeed considering that it was the first year. Bishop Paddock, the founder of the school, is rector, and an able corps of ten teachers, all specialists in their several departments, have charge of the several departments. The situation of the building, on a bluff commanding a view of the Sound and in full view of Mt. Tacoma, is a delightful and healthful one. Given the right material, it is an institute that is certain to produce "a sound mind in a sound body" and there are many that will do better than that.

Seven Thousand Dollars in Dust.

Capt. Roeder brought reports from Coupeville a week ago of a very rich gold find on Ruby creek, near the Twin Sister peaks, in Whatcom county. The Robinson claim, says the Whatcom Reveille, upon which the strike was made, was worked in 1878-9, and prospecting has been done on the upper Skagit and surrounding territory ever since, with varying success until the recent find. According to report the three men at work on the Robinson claim took out $7000 in dust in two days on the Robinson placer claim. The Ruby creek country may be reached via Skagit river or overland by trail from Fort Hope, B. C. A trail from Whatcom to the gold mines will be opened if the find should prove rich. In publishing gold stories we always have a feeling of distrust, and usually require a deposit of the yellow dust on our desk as a guarantee of good faith; but the report above is probably founded on fact.

THE EXTRADITION CASE.

Argument in Favor of Extraditing Isaac N. Hibbs.

MONDAY, July 27, 1885.

In the Supreme Court to-day before Honorable Justice Crease, was heard the argument in favor of the extradition of I. N. Hibbs, the defaulting postmaster of Lewiston, Idaho.

Messrs. J. R. Hett, and J. P. Walls, appeared for the United States Government which was represented by Honorable J. Goode, Solicitor-General, and Mr. Theo. Davie appeared for the prisoner.

Mr. Hett, in opening the case, said there were thirty-six charges of forgery against the witness. They were for issuing thirty-six money orders of $100 each. He was formerly postmaster at Lewiston, Idaho. While in that position he issued money orders on different parties without having received any applications. This constituted a breach of the postal law of the United States. He then forwarded the orders to different banks for collection, asking to have the money sent to "J. G. Wilson, Pierce City, Idaho." He had previously forwarded the advices to the postoffices. In most cases he received the cash, but in one case three drafts of $200 each were forwarded to him. It was found to be necessary to have a separate information for each case and he asked that these informations be now sworn to.

Mr. Theo. Davie objected to this course. The prosecution should be satisfied with proving one case. Only one information could be proceeded with at once.

The Court decided that it was advisable to proceed with one case at a time.

Chas. W. Brown, sworn deposed. I reside at Montana, am postoffice inspector, an official in the employ of the United States Government; was present at Lewiston when proceedings were taken against the prisoner Hibbs. Received from Judge Buck, complaint, warrant of arrest, and various depositions. Took them to Washington, brought them here and now produce them.

Mr. Davie objected to the admission of the documents as evidence before he was allowed to see them, and asked his objection to be noted. Also wished to ask the witness whether the prisoner was present when the depositions were taken, or was he represented by council.

Objection overruled.

Mr. Hett then read a number of depositions taken in July last in Idaho.

At 1:30 o'clock court adjourned for one hour.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Court assembled at 2:40 o'clock.

C. W. Brown gave in detail the mode of issuing money orders in the United States. He had inspected the Lewiston postoffice in the month of May, and found that there was no entry on the books of the money orders reefrred to. He had examined the book of money order blank forms and found that those mentioned to-day were missing. There was no trace of the orders in the Lewiston office.

POLICE COURT.

[Before E. Johnson, S. M.]

Mrs. Nelson, drunk, was fined $5 and $1 costs.

Sophia, an Alaska Indian woman, drunk; fined $5.

George Ramie, peddling fish without a license. Charge dismissed on payment of $5 balance of license, and $2 costs.

Robert Smith, charged with being a bailie for Robert Gibbs for the sum of $10, and fraudulently converting same to his own use. This case grew out of a dispute between Gibbs, who assaulted Captain Moore, of the Teaser, some time ago, and Mr. Robert Smith, who acted as his counsel in the magistrate's court. Mr. Smith received $10 from Captain Moore on an order from Gibbs and retained it for services rendered. The magistrate decided that if there was cause for action, it must be in the County Court. Case dismissed.

Captain W. McCullough, infraction of sanitary by-law; withdrawn.

MARINE NOTES.

The steamer Phantom arrived from Seattle yesterday.

The steamer Daisy came down from Comox yesterday.

The British ship Royal Sovereign leaves the Inlet to-day in tow of the Alexander, for Calcutta direct.

The Yosemite is tied up opposite the Custom House. The Enterprise, which has been thoroughly overhauled and renovated, took her place this morning on the New Westminster route.

The Sir James Douglas has been hauled out on Laing's ways for repairs. The old screw will be replaced by a new one, and other alterations and improvements will be made.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Hendry, of San Francisco, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Carleton returned to-day by the Olympian. Mrs. Carleton accompanies her as far as Portland.

The Gallick Case.

In the County Court to-day Mr. Wilson moved for the issue of short summonses on behalf of W. Spencer, J. Stephenson, A. Koennigsberger and Wm. Clark against Mrs. Gallick. Mr. Mills, for the defence, applied for an order that the lady, who is now in gaol for contempt, be produced in Court. Judgment was stayed and Court adjourned until Wednesday. On the morning of Wednesday, it is rumored, Mr. Mills will make an application for Mrs. Gallick's discharge from custody. The lady now says that the proceeds of the sale of the boot and shoe store are in her husband's possession, and he is non est. There are not wanting many who believe the statement, notwithstanding that Mrs. Gallick made a different statement before Judge Crease the other day.

Memorial Service To-Morrow.

The memorial services in honor of the late General Grant will be held in Christ Church Cathedral to-morrow (Tuesday) afternoon at 4 o'clock. Bishop Paddock of Washington Territory will conduct the impressive services. Prof. Pferdner will take charge of the choir on that occasion, which will embrace not only the regular church choir, but likewise some from other congregations in the city, and outsiders. The church will be draped. All seats will be free.

The Private Secretary.

The latest success in the theatrical world, "The Private Secretary," is described by the N. Y. World to be a wide-open, roaring farce of the lightest kind, crammed full of action, and abounding in absurd situations, resulting from the attempt of a jolly young Englishman to take the place of a lachrymose clergyman as private secretary to a country squire who has a pretty daughter. The play will be repeated to-morrow night and on Wednesday and Thursday. "The Professor" will be given.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

Mr. James Fell Moves to Expose Its Illegality.

The investigation asked for by Mr. James Fell into certain alleged illegal proceedings at the late election of school trustees in this city, was continued this morning before Mr. S. D. Pope, superintendent of education. The decision of the superintendent on points raised at last meeting, and reserved for consideration, was given. He declined to request the attendance of witnesses, as suggested by complainant's counsel, on the ground that by so doing he would make himself a party to the case. He also ruled that all declarations of voters asked for would be produced, and that all charges must be specifically made in writing. Mr. Thornton Fell said that the decision of the superintendent not to invite the attendance of witnesses would nullify the proceedings and render the Act practically unworkable, as witnesses would not feel called upon to attend merely at the request of the complainant. With respect to voters whose names had been placed upon the roll after the 31st of May, the last day fixed by the act for receiving and registering the same counsel held that they were placed there illegally and consequently that the election was thereby vitiated. To sustain this contention he asked for the production of the books and papers for the three wards. The three ballot boxes were produced by the Superintendent and opened. After a scrutiny the following names, certified to by Sheriff McMillan, were found to have been added after 31st of May: Yates Street Ward—Antoine Vigelius, Joseph M. Moraes; James Bay Ward—Alex. McLean, John Cox, Ed. Truran; Johnson Street Ward—Thos. Shaw, Wm. Dalby, Louis Vigelius, James Dalby, Emily Dalby, George Fairbrother and P. Carter. The last named certificate was not certified to by the sheriff. On the question of qualification, Mr. T. Fell asked to see the declarations made by the following voters: Theodore Davie, Mrs. Bone, J. P. Burgess, G. Bossi, D. W. Chauncey, J. A. T. Caton, E. M. Eberts, J. Gutman, Doctor Harrison, W. H. Howarth, W. Heathorn, John Kurtz, S. Kelly, Mary T. Kelty, William G. Lange, R. Lipsett, E. Marvin, George North, T. W. Pierre, Mrs. Pierre, R. P. Rithet, Henry Short, H. C. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson. These were produced and objections were raised and recorded against each, the ground being chiefly that they were not residents of the wards in which they claimed to have the right to vote, and in some instances that they were not freeholders. These points were verified by Mr. James Fell in a large number of the cases mentioned. The investigation was then adjourned for the production of further evidence, when Mr. Fell, having failed to get the government's officer to do so, will request the attendance of witnesses. The contention of the Superintendent is that the names added to the list are legal voters on the ground that they registered in response to the advertisement of the Sheriff after the original certificates had been accidentally lost. The question of qualification, in regard to those whose "residence" is attacked, will probably require a decision from the learned judges of the Supreme Court, and if there is any machinery by which proceedings can be taken, it is in the interest of all parties that it be set in motion. Mr. Fell will be doing a public service in pursuing the investigation to the end.

Cricket at Beacon Hill.

The game of cricket at Beacon Hill on Saturday afternoon between the Victoria and C. C. Institute elevens, although a little one-sided in the result, was nevertheless an interesting match, in which some splendid playing was shown on both sides. On the side of the Vics. Mr. Pooley made the splendid score of 45, in which was one six strike and two fours. Snowdrn's 25, and Combe's 19, were also the result of fine batting. On the C. C. I. side Goepel was the only one that succeeded in making a score of more than one figure. The following is the score:

The Hop Crop.

A large portion of the hop crop in the Puyallup Valley will go unpicked, as the cost for picking is greater than the present market price, rendering it impossible to raise money for harvesting purposes upon the growing crop. Those who have money or can raise it on other security will pick in hope of a rise in the market, but a large number of the growers cannot do this. The growers intend to stand out against the Indian pickers this season for a reduction in the price, from $1 to 75 cents per box.

Another Change.

Another arrangement in the running of the Sound boats goes into effect today. Hereafter the Olympian and the George E. Starr will make alternate daily trips, arriving in Victoria at ten a. m., and departing at one p. m. No boat will arrive or depart on Sunday. The Olympian sailed to-day at the usual hour and to-morrow the Starr will put in her first appearance.

Murdered in the Big Bend.

A report reached the city on Saturday that a miner known as Jeff Davis had been shot a few days ago in the Big Bend country. The gentleman was an acquaintance of Mr. Sam Addler's, he having been one of the party, accompanying him recently in his trip to the mines from Farwell. Full particulars will doubtless reach us in a few days.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

A Peculiar Game of Cricket—Hanlan Blowing.

A mixed combination game of cricket took place at Oakland recently, between picked sides of the Occidental club, nine who have experience as baseball players using cricket bats and nine who are better posted on cricket using baseball bats. The first at the wickets were the baseball players. They were not so fortunate as their opponents, and the wickets fell very fast to the good bowling and fielding of the cricketers. The cricketers soon followed and first appeared in no greater strength than their opponents, but toward the finish they proved themselves to have the advantage with the baseball bat over the former with the more defensive cricket bat. The game began at 3 p. m. and finished at 4:15 o'clock, after a pleasant afternoon's amusement. The cricketers gained a victory by 38 runs.

There was yet another public disappointment at Union Springs, N. Y., on the occasion of the Conley-Courtney match on the 4th of July. There was a large crowd present, but early in the afternoon it began to be rumored that Conley would not be on hand, and soon it was announced that he had been detained in Albany, but would arrive on the 5:47 p. m. train. But the 5:47 train came and no Conley. The crowd was indignant. Opinions were freely expressed that Courtney never intended to row and that he was at the bottom of Conley's non-appearance. Others said that a man who had already broken his engagement with the Cornell crew at Worcester would not scruple to disappoint the expectations of his townsmen.

King Louis of Bavaria wants to see Miss Mary Anderson as Galatea, and has written to her manager to name the price for a private performance of "Pygmalion and Galatea," to be given before himself alone at his theater during the summer.

Hanlan and Lee were at Alexandria Bay, New York, and the ex-champion was practising for his race with Hosmer, of Boston, at Cazenova Lake, N. Y., on July 23rd. He met the steamer J. T. Maynard, and they had a contest for three miles. Hanlan finished three boat lengths ahead. His friends will not allow him to row the contemplated series of five races with Teemer, because these races, they say, savor of the hippodrome, but Hanlan is willing and ready to row the three mile race for any amount, or at any place or date. In referring to proposed races, Hanlan said, "You can put two Teemers in any boat and I can beat them, or you can bunch all the so-called oarsmen together, pick out the best fifteen, and I will row them one mile each, every day for fifteen days, and win every day, sick or well. If Teemer and his backer do not stop throwing mud at me I will treat them the way Beach did me in Australia, choose my own time and course of tricky waters, with the thermometer 110 degrees in the shade, and keep them waiting for eight months. Teemer is the only one to blame for our not coming together, as he did not answer my letters and telegrams asking a postponement of two weeks, until I could get my boat finished."
